

REPORTS SHOW LOSS THIS YEAR

Taxable Property in Rush County is Not as Valuable as it Was in 1912.

GLENWOOD AND UNION OUT

Gain in These Two Divisions Could Not be Large Enough to Offset Loss.

If the amount of taxable property this year remains the same as it was last year in Union township and the Glenwood corporation, the assessors' report will show that there has been a loss in the assessed value of property in Rush county in a year of $148,355, not including the corporations.

The report of the assessor on Union township and Glenwood has not yet been filed at the auditor's office. The assessor brought his books in Tuesday, but there was some misconception of the way the totals should be tabulated, and he took the books back to close them up in the regular way.

Not counting Union township and Glenwood, the value of the property for taxation purposes in Rush county now stands at $17,414,715. Last year the total assessed value, before the corporations were added by the county board of review, was listed by the assessors at $19,011,880.

Last year the taxable property in Union township outside of Glenwood was valued at $1,373,725, and in Glenwood at $75,085. These two divisions will have to show an increase this year of more than a hundred thousand dollars to make the total equal that of 1912.

The corporations are not assessed by the assessors. It is for this purpose that the county board of review meets the first day in June and continues for twenty days. When they have finished the work, the amount of taxable property will be greatly increased. The board consists of the county assessor, John F. Moses, the county auditor, Allen R. Holden, and two other members appointed by the judge of the circuit court.

If the number of men who pay toll tax remains about the same in Glenwood and Union township this year, an increase will be noted in the polls. Last year there were 3,244 counted by the assessors and this year there are 3,133. There were 229 in Union township and Glenwood last year.

A loss in the value of taxable property was noted in every division in Rush county with three exceptions. These were in Richland and Ripley townships and that part of Rushville township outside of the city. The falling off in each instance was slight, but since it was general, the amount was large. The following are the assessed values this year by divisions:

Rushville city, $2,265,420; Posey township, $1,417,650; Richland, $1,042,465; Washington, $1,344,850; Walker, $1,251,200; Anderson, $1,635,275; Noble, $1,349,255; Jackson, $939,925; Orange, $1,352,215; Center, $1,439,145; Carthage corporation, $365,910; Ripley township, $1,267,825; Rushville township, $1,745,610.

RETURNS SATURDAY.

The union meetings of the general assembly of all the Presbyterian churches being held at Atlanta, Ga., will close tonight. Dr. Jamieson of the United Presbyterian church has attended all the sessions and will be home Saturday night. He will stop over at Knoxville College on the way back.

PUPILS TO EXHIBIT WORK

Manual Training at the Havens Building Tomorrow.

An exhibition of the work done in the manual training department of the Havens school will be made at the school tomorrow from nine in the morning until four in the afternoon. The exhibit will consist of cardboard construction, weaving, paper folding, free-hand cutting, sewing, wood carving and raffia. Every person who is interested in the public schools is urged to attend because it is believed the exhibit holds some attraction for them.

C. H. & D. ROAD LOSES $629,000 BY FLOOD

Of This Sum $167,000 Was Sustained on Local Division—Desired to Make Bond Issue.

TO SUPPLY FUND TO REPAIR

The C. H. & D. lost $629,000 from the flood, according to a statement of officials made to the Public Service Commission of Ohio yesterday. Of this sum $167,000 was sustained on the local division.

The officials asked for authority to issue $787,000 four per cent bonds for the purpose of supplying funds with which to make repairs. It stated its inability to sell these bonds in the market now for more than 80, and said it had completed arrangements with the Baltimore and Ohio to take the bonds as security for advances that would raise the funds.

The application said the cash for the repairs that had been made had been advanced from the B. and O. and was evidenced by five per cent notes. By taking the bonds the rate of interest would be cut 1 per cent and the company would have funds with which to reconstruct and repair its lines.

In the detailed report filed it was shown that at many places there were miles of the track entirely carried away.

BOY RETURNS HOME AND IS ARRESTED

Police Locate Orpha George, Who is Wanted For Stealing Chickens—
Been in Connersville.

CASE FOR JUVENILE COURT

Orpha George, who has been wanted for some time for stealing two chickens from Mrs. Frank Darnell in Jersey City, returned from Connersville today and was taken to jail by Policeman Wolter. The George boy is only fifteen years old and has caused the police no end of trouble. On the day the chickens were taken he was arrested but was allowed to go home when he promised to be at Squire Kratzer's office shortly after noon. This was the last seen of him until today. He skipped to Connersville. Young George was found at the home of Mrs. Mary Fields in West Ninth street, quite by accident. Policeman Wolter went there to serve a warrant on Mrs. Fields and ran onto the George boy. He will be held in jail until he can be taken before the juvenile court. It is more than likely that he will be sent to Plaquemine.

HURLED INTO THE RIVER BY A CAR

Carl Steffy Narrowly Escapes Death
When Caught on Bridge by
I. & C. Interurban.

IS SAVED BY HIS COMRADE

Right Arm is Broken in Several Places and Bones Protude Through Flesh.

While returning from a class picnic late yesterday afternoon, Carl Steffy, age seventeen, a senior in the Shelbyville high school, was hit by an I. & C. traction car while lying flat on the bridge just east of St. Paul and knocked to the river fifty feet below. He was rescued by his companion, Carl Moore, who was also on the bridge when the car passed, else he would most certainly have drowned.

The two boys had been spending the day picnicking with other members of the senior class, but changed their course and did not go back to Shelbyville with their classmates. Instead they intended to take a trip down to the St. Paul stone quarry to watch the work there for a time.

When Steffy and Moore approached the long I. & C. bridge, they thought of the danger if a car should catch them on the bridge, and scanned the horizon each way for an approaching interurban. The approach to the bridge on either side is cut off so that it is impossible to see any great distance up the track.

They finally thought it safe to venture across, but they had not reached the midway point on the bridge until a car came bearing down on them from the west. When the boys saw clearly that they could not gain the end of the bridge, they attempted to get clear of the path of the car.

Moore ran for a trolley pole which is on the bridge and hung to it, out over the river while the interurban rumbled by. The Steffy boy could not reach the pole in time and he lay down flat on his face on the ties just outside the rails and waited for the oncoming car.

Some projection on the car, possibly the device used in the new signal system, struck his right arm and broke and lacerated it, and threw him into the river. At this point Flatrock is only three feet deep, and the boy was stunned by the blow when he struck the bottom. Momentarily he was senseless, but he soon regained his senses enough to keep his head above the water.

Moore hurriedly climbed down off the bridge and towed his companion ashore. A physician was summoned and the injured lad was taken to St. Paul. It was found that his arm had been broken in several places and that the bones protuded through the flesh.

INTENTION IS DENIED.

Frank Rogers declares that his step-sister, Louise Smith, did not take paregoric Tuesday with suicidal intent. He and Miss Smith both say that she took it as medicine because she was feeling badly. A customer who was in the restaurant Tuesday confirms this assertion. He says he heard the girl complaining, and that she was advised to take paregoric. She bought ten cents worth and took it all.

NEW SCHOOL HEAD.

Raleigh M. Elrod has resigned as superintendent of the Knightstown schools to accept a similar position at Ligonier, Ind. He will be succeeded by Roy C. Keaver, who has been superintendent of the schools at Parker, Ind.

SEE TREND TO REPUBLICANS

Point Out That the Early Returns Show G. O. P. Candidate Has Greater Vote Than Progressive.

INDIANAPOLIS RACE WATCHED

First Test of Strength Since Last November When New Party Ran Second in Capitol.

With over half of the precincts in this afternoon, indications were that Joseph E. Bell was the Democrat's choice as a candidate for mayor of Indianapolis, Charles A. Bookwalter the Republicans, and Dr. W. H. Johnson, the progressives. The nomination of the first two seems assured but that of the latter is uncertain.

Rushville people who are interested in politics have been looking on at the primary campaign in Indianapolis with interest because it will be the first test of strength of the parties since the presidential election last fall when the Progressives ran ahead of the Republicans.

With only 82 out of 133 precincts counted this afternoon, it appeared that the Republicans were casting more votes than the Bull Moosers. Taking the mayoralty candidates as a basis, the Republicans in the eighty-two precincts had cast 1,584 more votes than the Bull Moosers. The combined vote for the three Republican candidates was 4,591 and for the three Progressive candidates, 3,007 votes.

This indicates a trend to the Republican party, local Republicans contend, although the result may vary materially in the end since only a little more than half of the precincts had been heard from this afternoon.

The Indianapolis newspapers, as usual, attribute the victory of the Republican and Democratic candidates to the so-called machines. They charge all kinds of trickery, such as the buying of votes, repeating and other things that combinations are alleged to do, but there were no arrests or any absolute proofs to substantiate such charges.

Joseph T. Bell had 6,602 votes and John W. Holtzman had 3,601 in the race for the Democratic nomination for mayor in the official returns, unofficially announced. The precincts counted were scattered all over the city, and it was thought that the returns from the remaining precincts would show practically the same proportionate lead.

The combined vote of the opposition candidates in the eighty-two precincts was greater than the vote for Bell, thus making Bell a minority candidate on the showing from these precincts. On the Republican ticket, Bookwalter, practically without opposition, carried all of the 82 precincts, except the Seventh of the Eleventh ward, which went for Uhl by a vote of 30 for Uhl and 20 for Bookwalter, and the Third of the Tenth ward, which was carried by Woods, 9 for Bookwalter and 2 for Uhl. This is Woods' home precinct. The Seventh precinct of the Eleventh ward is Robert Metzger's precinct, and Metzger was one of Uhl's campaign managers.

On the progressive ticket, Johnson led in the eighty-two precincts with 1,423 votes to 990 for Stewart and 594 for Headrick.

In the early returns it was a close race between Johnson and Stewart, but as the canvass proceeded Johnson gradually pulled ahead. The Headrick boom flattened out several days before the primaries.

An eight pound boy was born this morning to the wife of Earl Brown in East Eighth street.

NEIGHBORS HAVE TROUBLE

One Arrest Leads to Another in the Squire's Court.

A neighborhood quarrel led to two arrests this morning in the northwestern part of the city. William Ravencroft and Mrs. Mary Fields had a few hot words and Ravencroft is alleged to have hit her with a piece of stove wood. Mrs. Fields had him arrested for assault and battery and Ravencroft paid one dollar and costs, amounting to $9.75 before Squire Kratzer. He thought he had been done an injustice and caused Mrs. Fields to be arrested on the charge of provoke. Mrs. Fields appeared before Squire Kratzer this afternoon and after talking the matter over the affidavit was quashed for want of prosecution.

GONE TO KENTUCKY AFTER BERT OWENS

Prosecutor and Marshal Left For Flemingsburg to Get Man Wanted
Here on Two Counts.

HAD REQUISITION PAPERS

Prosecutor Donald Smith and Chief McAllister left this afternoon for Flemingsburg, Ky., where they expect to arrest Bert Owens on two charges brought by Minnie Lee. Owens was indicted by the grand jury but his whereabouts were unknown until Sheriff Bebout investigated and found that he was near Flemingsburg. One is a paternity charge and the other is for seduction. Sheriff Bebout still has the two warrants and it is not known how the prosecutor and marshal expect to arrest the man. Donald Smith went to the governor and got the requisition papers and had Chief McAllister appointed special agent to make the trip to Kentucky. The indictments were returned at separate times, one in March and the other by the grand jury in December. The men are expected back here with Owens some time Friday.

BROADDUS TO BE ON BENCH

Will Try Cases Judge Megee is Interested in Tomorrow.

L. L. Broadbuss of Connersville will come tomorrow to take up some cases in which he has been appointed special judge. They are cases in which Judge Megee is interested and can not serve. Judge Megee last evening took under advisement the divorce case of Pearl Hambrook against Julius Hambrook. Before the case was closed the plaintiff filed a motion asking permission to introduce some new evidence and the request was granted. The Hambrooks formerly lived here. After moving to Connersville she brought proceedings and the case was sent here on a change of venue, and after a partial hearing, dismissed. A second suit was filed in Connersville and then sent here again.

ATTENDING CONVENTION.

Dr. F. R. McClannahan and Dr. P. H. Chadwick have been in Indianapolis all week attending the annual convention of the Indiana State Dental association, which closed this afternoon. Dr. McClannahan gave a clinic this afternoon. Dr. Frank M. Sparks and Dr. Carl F. Beher attended the meeting yesterday.

OFFENSE TO GIVE DRUNKARD GUN

Act of Last Legislature Provides Fine and Jail Sentence For Even Selling to One.

THREE ACTS REGARD LIQUOR

Another Forbids Prosecuting Attorney From Assisting in Procuring Saloon License.

Three acts of the last legislature apply to intoxicating liquor in one way or the other. A fine and imprisonment in the county jail is provided for the person who sells or gives a weapon of any sort to a drunkard. Another forbids officials from assisting in procuring liquor licenses and the third has to do with license transfers.

House Bill 34 (Chapter 26), approved February 22, enacts "that whoever sells, barter, gives or delivers any pistol, dirk, bowie knife, dagger or any other dangerous or deadly weapon to any person at the time in a state of intoxication, knowing him or her to be in a state of intoxication or to any person in the habit of becoming intoxicated" with knowledge of such habit, shall be fined in any sum not exceeding $1,000, or imprisoned in jail not less than thirty days nor more than six months or both fined and imprisoned.

House Bill 323 (Chapter 271), approved March 15, amends the act of 1901 (Burns, 1908, Section 9409), forbidding "any person while holding the office of prosecuting attorney" to assist in procuring any saloon license. The title of the act is not amended in any way so as to refer to anybody but prosecuting attorneys and their deputies; but the body of the act is made to declare it unlawful "for any person while holding the office of prosecuting attorney or deputy prosecuting attorney, mayor or any city acting as city judge, or judge of any city court" either directly or indirectly, to act as attorney or to assist in procuring such a license. The act is also made to forbid giving any assistance in procuring a license to sell intoxicating liquors at "wholesale" as well as at retail. The penalty fixed by the old law is not changed.

Senate Bill 349 (Chapter 216), approved March 14, authorizes receivers to apply for, and boards of county commissioners to grant the sale and transfer of retail liquor licenses in cases where a court has duly appointed a receiver or trustee in bankruptcy for the property of any holder of a retail liquor license. In any such case the receiver may, within sixty days after his appointment, appointment, apply for the sale and the transfer of such license in all respects as the licensee might apply therefor, which application shall be made and action taken thereon by the board of commissioners, as in case of such application by the licensee. In case any such license is granted and transfer made by the board, all rights in and to such license and privilege thereunder, shall pass from such licensee to such transferee. "Pending such application for transfer, such licensee may continue such business, paying, however, to the receiver, the net profits thereof, and in the event of the continuation of such business by the licensee, pending such transfer, such licensee shall be liable and subject to all laws and regulations respecting the sale of liquor under license, to the same extent as if such receiver had not been appointed or such application for transfer made."

No More Storage of Grain by Dealers and Millers

In an interview with Grain Dealers and Millers of Rush County, as to the effect of the recent legislation, which provides that Mills, Elevators and Warehouses, that accept grain on deposit or storage, with or without compensation, shall become public storage companies, and fall under the jurisdiction of the Public Service Commission, the same as Railroads, Interurban Roads, Telegraph Companies, etc.

Each authorized the statement that they could not afford to comply with the requirements of the law governing public service companies, with its complicated system of bookkeeping, reports, etc., when business itself is unprofitable, hence they can not now longer accept grain on storage without rendering themselves liable to heavy penalties, therefore, to a man, they propose to abandon the practice entirely, and since the practice of loaning money to depositors and others has been indulged in so liberally by some grain dealers, in consequence of the storage of grain and otherwise, it is understood that such as have thus performed the functions of the banker will abandon that practice and no more money will be advanced, loaned or provided for by them, except in payment for grain, seed, etc., as the same is purchased and delivered.

(Ball Bearing—Long Wearing)

In buying a typewriter you want a satisfactory answer to three questions:

*What will it do for me?
How well will it do it?
How long will it do it?*

By answering these queries with the needs of the typewriter owner and user in mind, the L. C. Smith & Bros. Typewriter Company has attained the front rank in the typewriter field.

Some people think that a typewriter is a typewriter and that is all there is to it. Machines may look alike but there is a lot of difference in efficiency.

The new Model Five is built not only for straight correspondence but for tabulating, billing and in fact for every service needed in the average business.

Its ball bearings at all points where friction develops through action, permit close adjustment and insure correct and accurate typewriting.

ADJUSTMENT ON AMICABLE BASIS

This Now Is the Word On Japanese Situation.

JINGO SENTIMENT ABATING

As the Japanese People Come to a Fuller Understanding of the Internal Structure of Our Government, They Are Letting Up in Their Clamor Against the Federal Administration, Realizing California Is to Blame.

Washington, May 22.—In regard to the Japanese situation, reports received by the state department from United States representatives in Tokio brought encouragement to the administration. President Wilson has had the greatest faith from the first that some way for a diplomatic settlement of the California alien land law controversy would be found, and late developments have given him additional ground for hope. One of the reports to the state department was from a diplomatic representative of the United States government, who discussed the situation informally with members of the Japanese ministry following the receipt by them of the American reply to Ambassador Chinda's formal protest against the California legislation. This report brought to the president and Secretary of State Bryan expressions of confidence by the American representative that the Japanese ministers fully appreciate the sincerity of this government's efforts to prevent discrimination against Japanese subjects through the California law, and also the domestic difficulties which the United States officials have encountered in dealing with the state government involved.

Informally the Japanese ministers are reported to have said at this conference that they understood thoroughly the peculiarities of the situation arising from the dual character of the American government. The Japanese official attitude, as voiced at this time, was not to hold the American administration as strictly responsible for the California law as would have been the case had the difficulty arising from the internal structure of this government been less conspicuous.

The Japanese ministers also conveyed the information that an abatement of the jingo sentiment among the Japanese had been noted by them.

Both the president and secretary of state, it is understood, were impressed by the tone of this report, and their hopes for a satisfactory adjustment of the controversy through diplomatic channels were strengthened.

Other persons in Washington more familiar with foreign affairs and with the far east, have not shared the president's optimism and frankly continue to regard the present negotiations, involving as they do the questions of national honor for Japan as marking a crisis in the situation between Japan and the United States, if not the entire western world.

French Liner Blown Up In Port of Smyrna.

Smyrna, May 22.—As she was leaving this port the French liner Senegal struck a mine and was destroyed by the explosion. There were many passengers aboard. Tugs which rushed to the rescue were able to save some of the passengers and crew who were struggling in the water.

The Senegal belongs to the Messag-eries Maritimes. She is of 3,600 tons register and is more than forty years old. She was to have been withdrawn from service soon. She left Marseilles on May 15, with sixty passengers and a crew of sixty, for Constantinople, Smyrna and Beirut, and probably took aboard other passengers at ports of call, including Piraeus.

THE NOMINEES FOR MAYOR

Bell, Bookwalter and Johnson Contestants at Indianapolis.

Indianapolis, May 22.—In yesterday's primary election the Democrats named Joseph E. Bell, former law partner of Senator Kern, as their candidate for mayor; the Republicans renominated former Mayor Charles A.
Bookwalter, and the Progressives named Dr. W. H. Johnson, president of the city council, as their standard bearer in the coming city election.
Bell's chief opponent was former Mayor or John W. Holtzman, Representative
John J. Keegan coming in third. Thos.
Meeker, a hotel keeper, also ran.

Bookwalter was opposed by Albert E. Uhl, a real estate dealer, and Wil-ham D. Woods. Johnson's nomination on the Bull Moose ticket was opposed by W. K. Stewart, a book dealer, and W. D. Headrick, a lawyer. The heaviest primary vote in the city's history was cast.

Cruel Father Punished.

Evansville, Ind., May 22.—For whipping his little eight-year-old daughter, George L. Powell was fined $25 and costs and sentenced to the county jail for thirty days. The police say Powell whipped her until blood ran to her heels and then locked her in the cellar and forced her to spend the night there with rats.

Continues Nugent Cases.

Washington, Ind., May 22.—The six cases, four charging embezzlement and two alleging that county records were tampered with, against Thomas Nugent, a former county auditor, were continued by Judge Omedon in the Davies county circuit court upon his own motion, and were set for trial on Sept. 15.

The differences between the Ninth

Baptist church are to be settled by a and a disinterested person. The Ninth Street congregation suggested each congregation sell its church and the two join in erecting a new edifice, but the other congregation advised a board of arbitration, and this was acted upon. Evangelist Luke P. V.

Williams brought the two congregations together. He closed a successful meeting, with twenty-one additions, at the First Baptist church on Monday night and left for Convers-

Wife of Knightstown Poultry Dealer Gets Decree When Husband Fails to Substantiate Claims.

$500 ALIMONY IS ALLOWED

Judge Jackson, who has had the case of Mrs. Rebecca Brosius of Knightstown, who sued Walter G.
Brosius, a poultry dealer of Knights-town, for a divorce and $5,000 alimony, under advisement for several days, has rendered a decree of divorce for Mrs. Brosius, says the Newcastle Courier. He gives her the possession of the two children and an order of the court for Walter Brosius to pay her $5 a week for the support of herself and children.

A decree allowing Mrs. Brosius $500 alimony and $75 attorney's fee was allowed by the court.

In rendering his decision Judge Jackson stated that Brosius in his cross-complaint alleged that his wife had been intimate with other men, but this was not borne out in the evidence. He gave as his opinion that Mrs. Brosius had been watched but that nothing detrimental to her character had been proved. He said that he had given the children to Mrs.
Brosius because he thought she could give them a better raising than Mr.
Brosius.

The order for Brosius to pay $5 a week for the support of his wife and children was made until further order of the court. The money is to be paid into the office of the county clerk.

She is survived by her husband and two sons, besides the daughter here.
The funeral was held at the home this afternoon at two o'clock, with the Rev. A. R. Jones officiating and burial was made in the Fairland cemetery.

Standing Pat.

President Wilson will neither offer nor accept compromises in the making of a new tariff law. In the complexities of tariff-making, statesmanship has always found it politic to concede details which do not impair the vitality of the general principle. In dealing with many industries, affected by many varied conditions and environments, and all of them to be dealt with in their relation to the subject of public revenue, some readjustments have almost always been found necessary. Changes are sometimes forced by financial necessities. Again, they may grow out of political necessities which compel a yielding at some points as a means of getting the votes necessary to enact a measure.

Mr. Wilson finds himself elected to office on a platform declaring tariffs for protection to be unconstitutional. He finds, too, a Democratic majority in both houses of the congress elected on the same declaration. The Democrats can not fairly be charged with any concealment of their purpose. Nor are we disposed to be captious in criticism of Mr. Wilson's present uncompromising attitude. Talking with several score Washington correspondents on last Thursday, while the Senate was in the preliminaries of taking up the House tariff bill, he said: "I am not the kind that considers compromises when I have once taken my position. I have taken my stand with the House leaders for the present bill. Enough said. I am not looking for or accepting compromises."

This bold utterance could not have been addressed to the Republican minority in the senate. The Republicans have never entertained hope that any concession would be made as a result of their opposition. In the senate, as in the House, they will oppose the enactment of the bill into law only as a reassertion of their party principle, which, as asserted last year in two platforms made by Republicans, received a very great majority in the popular vote. The record of opposition they are making in congress, however, is not being made with any hope of changing the plans of the Democratic administration, nor do they find fault with the president for insisting that all of the Democrats elected with him on the Baltimore platform shall stand with him in enforcing it. Their position grows out of the assurance they find in the official returns that the country is very far from rejecting their party doctrine, and out of the political necessity of making a record opposition. The president's announcement of "no compromise" can have been addressed to none other than a small group of Democrats in the Senate who are known to be asking for modifications of the Underwood bill, and who have carefully created an impression that they will, if all compromises are rejected, vote with the Republicans in enforcing some material amendments. What the president has just said is, or now seems to be, a challenge to them to do their worst. He will concede nothing. He is "standing pat" on immediate free wool and early free sugar. It grew fashionable a year or two ago, to dub Republicans standing for the protection demanded by a popular majority of a million and a quarter in 1908 as "standpatters."

The state of Indiana will pay the traveling expenses of all residents of Indiana at this time who participated on either side of the great battle of Gettysburg, to the reunion of the blue and the grey to be held on the battlefield on the fiftieth anniversary. It is expected that this will be one of the greatest gatherings of veterans of the Civil war, not excepting the annual encampments of the G. A. R. It will be held from July 1 to July 4 on the field where one of the fiercest struggles of the memorable contest between the north and south took place—the battle of Gettysburg. As guests of the state of Pennsylvania and the national government, the veterans of the blue and grey will meet in peace and amity where fifty years before they fought to annihilate each other.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Kenner announce the marriage of their daughter, Olive Grace, to Harry B. Armstrong. The wedding will take place Wednesday evening, June 4.

Burl Matney of near New Salem and Miss Bessie Downey of Fayette county will be united in marriage Thursday evening at their newly furnished home at New Salem.

Invitations are out for the commencement dance. The dance will be given in the Modern Woodmen hall Friday evening, May 30. The Douglas orchestra will furnish the music and a number of guests from a distance are expected.

The Social club was the scene of a very pretty wedding last night when Miss Ethel Blackledge, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Blackledge, was married to Mark Dennis of Indianapolis. The wedding was beautiful in all its appointments and the ceremony most impressive. The Rev. V. W. Tevis officiated and the full ring ceremony was used. The altar was placed in front of a bank of maple and locust leaves and the bridal party entered by an aisle leading from the club entrance across the main hall. The ushers were Edward Richardson and Allan Blackledge, and they were followed by Elliott R. Tibbets, best man, and then Mr. Dennis. The bride's attendants were Miss Jessie Monjar, Miss Marie Crosby and Miss Catherine Joy McCoy. The bride was escorted to the altar by her father. The ring bearer, Eleanor Blackledge, carried a large lily in which was placed the ring. The flower maids, Martha Huey Johnson and Katherine Watson, carried French baskets and strew rose petals up to the altar. The bride wore a white satin gown, trimmed in duchess lace and carried a large bouquet of lilies of the valley and sweet peas. Miss Monjar wore a blue and pink crepe de Chene gown with venice lace, and also carried a bouquet of sweet peas. Miss Crosby was gowned in pink crepe de Chene and Miss McCoy wore a lavender crepe meteor dress and carried a shower bouquet. Martha Johnson was in a white embroidered dress over blue and Catherine Watson wore an embroidered dress of chiffon over pink messaline. Eleanor Blackledge was in white. Preceding the ceremony Miss Hazle Lytle sang "Believe Me If All Those Endearing Young Charms," and "Oh Promise Me." A harpist played the Lohengrin march as the bridal party entered.

Following the ceremony a salad course was served. The dining room was beautifully decorated in smilax and locust leaves. The bridal party was at one table in the center of the room and the guests, numbering over one hundred, were at tables surrounding.

Mr. and Mrs. Dennis left last night for their newly furnished home in Indianapolis and will be at home to their friends after September 1st, at 40 West Twenty-sixth street.

Guests from a distance included the following: Charles Dennis, father of Mr. Dennis, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Blackledge, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Blackledge, Mr. and Mrs. William F. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Johnson, the Misses Ginervia McCoy and Katherine Kenney, Mr. and Mrs. Albert C. Farrell, Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Doan, the Misses Sybil and Helen Holbrook, Dr. and Mrs. O. S. Coffin, Mr. and Mrs. G. Rudolph Miller, Miss Helen Reed, Mr. and Mrs. Albert M. Bristor, A. C. Metcalf, Miss Jessie Metcalf, Preston Condit and James Burke of Indianapolis; Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Garritson, Miss Lucile Garritson and Frank White of Knightstown, and Mr. and Mrs. Helm Woodward of Covington, Ky., and Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Blackledge of Anderson.

The Argyle Case

A Novelization by J. W. McConaughy of the Successful New Play by Harriet Ford, Harvey J. O'Higgins and Detective William J. Burns, in Which Robert Hilliard Is Appearing.

Copyright, 1912, by Journal-American-Examiner.

"Well, ah—no," confessed the lawyer with some hesitation. "I was merely canvassing that idea. There seems to be a lack of motive otherwise, or rather a large discrepancy between the nature of the crime and the character of the only person who might have had a motive."

"Miss Mazurek?" said Kayton in a matter of fact tone.

"Oh, it couldn't be Miss Mazurek!" protested the lawyer instantly. "It's incredible that a girl like her could be involved in a thing of this sort. Besides, how was she to know that if he died at that particular moment she would be the sole heir under the will?"

"Oh, the will was secret?" inquired Kayton.

Mr. Hurley hesitated. "Well, now, Mr. Kayton, I'll tell you about that," he said slowly. "My client had an idea that is not uncommon among millionaires. He had an almost morbid apprehension of his heirs waiting to inherit his estate—a somewhat superstitious fear of the concentrated expectations of legatees. In fact, he didn't want any one to know who was

"Oh, it couldn't be Miss Mazurek," to benefit by his death. In the last few days of his life, when he contemplated reinstating his son, he was particularly insistent on secrecy. The thing was an obsession, you understand?"

Kayton nodded. "Did the son know that he had been disinherited?"

"I doubt it," replied Mr. Hurley, "but if you allow for this apprehension of my client's he would have considered that it was a protection to himself to have his son think that he was disinherited. When I mentioned that Mr. Argyle was about to make a new will at the time of his death it never for a moment occurred to me that a suspicion might be construed against Miss Mazurek. But," he shook his head, "when you come to construe motives—"

"Were you going to draw up the will?" interrupted Kayton.

"Well," Mr. Hurley hesitated. "I'll tell you about that. He'd been discussing it with me for some time, but we never did anything."

"Did you draw up the old one?"

"No. That was before my time. That was drawn up by Tolworthy & Mead."

Kayton had opened his lips to ask another question when there came an interruption. Bruce Argyle burst into the room with a newspaper tightly clutched in his hand. He was plainly holding himself as he greeted the detective courteously and apologized for being late. Then he turned on the lawyer in a storm of wrath.

"Look here, Hurley!" he cried. "What do you go and give out all that stuff to the newspapers for—about father's going to change his will and start them up with all this rot about Mary? Why, all these morning papers are full of the meanest of stabs. Look at this!" And he proceeded to read a few of the headlines that all plainly intimated the possible connection of Mr. Argyle's adopted daughter with the old millionaire's murder.

"That's unspeakable!" he stormed. "If Mary sees that—"

"Now," broke in Mr. Hurley soothingly, "why pay any attention to that sort of thing?"

But Bruce was not to be soothed. He was white with anger.

"It was bad enough when they insinuated that some of father's stock market victims came and killed him," he went on, "or maybe some fellow wanted to marry Mary for her money and had to get him out of the way; but, Hurley, you've given them just what they wanted to build on!"

"I'm very sorry," said the lawyer gently, but not apologetically, "but I didn't think we had anything to conceal. I take it that if we are going to get at the truth of this matter we need to be open and honest. Isn't that so, Mr. Kayton?"

"Why, of course, Mr. Hurley," agreed Kayton readily, and before Bruce could open up a new attack he skillfully shifted the ground of the conversation.

"You understand, Mr. Argyle," he said with dignity, "that you are now the head of the family here, and the responsibility for the success or failure of this investigation will rest largely with you. I'll have to ask for your cooperation in everything, and I'll expect that you'll consult with me before you make any move or express any opinion or do anything that has a bearing on this case."

"Certainly," returned young Argyle, again completely the well bred, self contained young man. "I understand that, Mr. Kayton."

"I'll expect that you'll consult with me," for you make any move or express any opinion or do anything that has a bearing on this case."

things, and if you stood up against them there was trouble all along the line. I broke away—about a year ago—when—he hesitated again in some embarrassment—"when he objected to my marrying Miss Thompson, and Mary has been trying ever since to bring us together. That night—his voice trembled slightly—"that night we had a fine time. She was as happy as could be about it, because father and I were on good terms again. She went to her room early and left us here to have a talk."

Kayton's face betrayed absolutely nothing of any impression he may have gained from this little tale.

"Did your father seem worried about anything?" he asked. Bruce thought for a moment and replied:

"He had a telephone call that disturbed him a good deal while I was here."

"What time was it?"

"Why, about 10."

"Did he receive it himself?"

"Yes; he was called on his private wire right here," Argyle indicated the desk phone.

"What did he say?"

"I can't remember," replied the young man slowly, "except that it was 'he' and 'yes' and 'no.' I thought it was some of his business affairs, and he seemed to want to think it over, so I left soon after."

"Where did you spend the night?"

Inquired the detective.

"In my studio, where I live."

"How did you get there—a taxi?"

"No; I walked."

"When did it begin to rain?"

"Rain?" echoed Argyle. "I didn't know it did rain."

"Did any one see you go into your studio?"

"Not that I know of," replied the young man, with a shake of the head.

Hurley Threw a Swift Glance at the Detective's Impassive Face.

"Any one drop in on you during the evening?"

"No."

Kayton studied the floor gravely for a moment and then asked:

"Is there any one in the surrounding apartments that could have seen you or your light?"

"Well," said Argyle doubtfully, "you know I have the rear of a top floor in an old Twenty-third street house with a skylight."

"Didn't you hear the rain on your skylight?" demanded Kayton swiftly.

"I tell you I didn't know it rained," declared the young man, with some peevishness. "The best nerves and cleanest conscience feel the effect of this sort of an examination. 'I go to bed early,' he explained, 'and I get up as soon as there's light enough to work.'"

"Mr. Kayton," interposed the lawyer, "do you see anything significant in that telephone message?"

Kayton stared at the lawyer for a moment or two as if he had never seen him before. His abstraction seemed complete. Then his eyes slowly returned to Argyle's and he said slowly:

"Then you don't know of any way in which you can corroborate your statement that you left here about 10 o'clock and spent the rest of the night in your studio?"

Bruce was silent, and Kayton waited.

"No—no, I don't," said the young man in a low voice.

"Nobody saw you, you think—nobody saw you leave here?"

Again there was the barest hesitation and the low voice.

"No—no."

"You didn't see Finley?" Kayton's eyes were on the young man's face with piercing keenness, as if to read unspoken answers.

"No, I didn't see Finley at all." This answer came swiftly, as the detective expected it would. He shrugged his shoulders and half turned away.

"Mr. Argyle," he said coldly. "I don't want to be put in the position of cross-examining you. If you are not going to give me your confidence it would be better for me to drop the whole matter right here."

Argyle flushed slightly and his eyes shifted.

"Well—I"—he began.

To be continued.

TELLS OF HIS PART IN ALLEGED CONSPIRACY

Further Details of Lawrence Dynamite "Plant."

Boston, May 22.—A Lawrence undertaker, Joan J. Breen, at that time a member of the Lawrence school board, who was fined $500 for "planting" dynamite in various places of that city during the textile strike of 1912 for the purpose of discrediting the strikers, took the stand at the trial of President William B. Wood of the American Woolen company, F. E. Atteaux and Dennis J. Collins, for conspiring to plant the explosive, and said he received $700 from Atteaux for doing the job, having received the dynamite from Ernest W. Pitman, now dead. Under cross-examination of Attorney Coakley, counsel for Atteaux, questions were asked which indicated that the defense, so far as Atteaux is concerned, intends to impute that this testimony was actuated by motives of blackmail.

"After you had been convicted last July you went to Atteaux and demanded $12,000, didn't you?" shouted Coakley at the witness, after about two hours of other questioning.

"Yes. Assaf Di Prato and the other Lawrence people who had been arrested when the dynamite was found had brought civil suits against me. My lawyer said he could settle with Di Prato for $5,000 and for $1,000 with the other seven," replied Breen.

"Well, you later offered to take $7,000 from Atteaux, didn't you?"

"I received an offer from you, his lawyer, of $7,000," responded Breen.

Witness in reply to further questions admitted he had refused to take this $7,000 from the lawyer under the conditions the lawyer imposed.

"Let us have the conditions," said Attorney Coakley.

"You told me to put most of the money in my pocket and settle with the poor slob in Lawrence as cheaply as I could. I refused to do any such thing."

BIG PARADE OF "BOYS IN BLUE"

Grand Army Veterans Cheered at Indianapolis.

THOUSANDS LINE STREETS

Every Section of the State Added Its Quota to the Crowd Which Gathered at the Capital City to Witness the Annual Parade of the Sadly Diminishing Forces of the Department of Indiana, Grand Army of Republic.

Indianapolis, May 22.—This afternoon thousands lined the downtown streets cheering the grizzled veterans of the civil war. The annual parade of the department of Indiana, Grand Army of the Republic, the big feature of this week's encampment, was participated in by nearly 2,500 members. As this probably will be the last parade of the Grand Army in the capital city, every effort had been made to insure the largest measure of spectacular effect and the veterans were cheered with fervor as they once more displayed the strength of their diminishing ranks to the crowds gathered here from all parts of the state for the occasion.

General Oran Perry was grand marshal of the parade, which was led by a detachment of mounted police followed by the Indianapolis battalion, Indiana national guard. Captain Charles W. Wheat, color bearer, and Captain John B. Wirt, a veteran of the navy, carrying the Union Jack, followed, after which came the Grand Army, marching eight abreast, and the Sons of Veterans and Spanish-American war veterans in five divisions. The auto brigade, composed of machines filled with veterans unable to march, brought up the rear. Each division was led by a brass band.

Instead of having the members of the various auxiliary organizations of women in the parade, seats were provided for them opposite the reviewing stand on the north of the federal building. Each woman was given a flag and each veteran carried a flag in the parade in lieu of arms. The space on the esplanade surrounding the reviewing stand was reserved for the pupils of the Indianapolis schools.

Commander in chief Judge Alfred B. Beers of the G. A. R., Commander in Chief Ralph M. Grant of the Sons of Veterans and Miss Nina A. Littlefield, national president Daughters of Veterans, together with members of their staffs, department officers, Governor Raiston and Mayor Shank occupied places on the reviewing stand.

The entire morning was devoted to the encampments of the several organizations. Campfires will be held this evening, one at Tomlinson hall, at which Department Commander Gorsuch will preside, and the other at the Second Presbyterian church, at which Past Department Commander Gil R. Stormont will preside. The national officers of the organizations represented and others will address both meetings. Following the campfires, a reception and dance will be given at the Denison hotel by the Ben Harrison camp, Sons of Veterans, and its auxiliary. The encampment will close with business sessions tomorrow morning.

THEY FAVOR SUNDAY SHOWS

Fort Wayne Authorities Refuse to Grant Preachers' Demands.

Fort Wayne, Ind., May 22.—Members of the Fort Wayne Ministerial association are in doubt as to their further procedure toward closing Sunday theaters of the city, following the flat refusal of the mayor and the board of safety to take any steps in the matter. With the city and county officials against closing, the ministers are afraid that it would be impossible to get any action on the theater managers. The mayor and the board of safety based their refusal to close on the grounds that the public needs relaxation and amusement on the Sabbath and that sentiment is overwhelmingly in favor of Sunday theaters.

Tragedy at Barn Raising.

Warsaw, Ind., May 22.—Charles Martin was instantly killed, Ora Neldig was seriously injured and half a dozen other men were badly hurt when the frame work for a big barn on the farm of George Seymour, west of Warsaw, collapsed. Seymour had arranged an old-fashioned barn raising, and neighbors and friends for miles around came to assist him. Nearly all the timbers were in place when the collapse came.

Called It Assault and Battery.

Richmond, Ind., May 22.—Walter Witte, charged with criminal assault on his stepdaughter, Dorothy Carter, aged eleven, entered a plea of guilty to simple assault and battery in the police court. Mayor Zimmerman imposed a fine of $500 and costs and added a jail sentence of six months.

He Couldn't Remember.

Huntington, Ind., May 22.—John Richardson is charged with perjury because he failed to remember facts regarding liquor sales when called in court.

The United Presbyterians will erect a $400,000 memorial church in Washington.

SECOND GAME SATURDAY

Methodists and Christians Will be in the Points.

The second game in the Sunday school base ball league will be played between the Methodists and the Christians next Saturday afternoon at four-fifteen o'clock promptly. The league did not get a very auspicious start last Saturday because of bad weather, but the crowd was there even though the clouds threatened. This indicates that the league has aroused considerable interest and that, with fair weather, many people will attend. Various members of the teams in the league are practicing each evening in preparation for the games.

LOCALS WILL PLAY DUESSELDORFERS

Brewers Instead of White Sox Will be Attraction Here Sunday—
Have Fast Team.

RECENTLY BEAT GREENFIELD

Through a conflict in dates the Indianapolis White Sox will not play here Sunday and the Duesseldorfers will be the attraction instead. The Duesseldorfers is considered the best team of the two and a fast game is expected. The Brewers recently defeated the fast Greenfield team and so far this season have a great record. The Duesseldorfers team is composed of some of the best players in Indianapolis and this year as in the past are backed by the Indianapolis Brewing company. It is one of the oldest semi-pro teams out of Indianapolis and have not been in this city for several years. Since several of the Indianapolis teams have disbanded the best players have been picked up and the Duesseldorfers have strengthened in the last two weeks. Rushville will face strong opposition and a real ball game is expected.

SAYS STATUTE IS FOR MINORS ONLY

Anderson Judge Interprets New Cigarette Law Not to Apply to Dealers at All.

ARE FINED UNDER OLD LAW

State Senator Van Nuys and other lawyers in the Anderson city court expressed surprise when Prosecutor Shuman of Anderson asserted that the cigarette law, enacted by the last session of the Indiana legislature, does not apply to dealers, and that the old law in regard to dealers continues in effect. Mayor Foster, as judge in the city court, upheld the state.

George Nichols sold cigarettes to a minor who, Nichols asserted, represented he was twenty-one years old. Counsel for Nichols, including Van Nuys, decided he should plead guilty under the new law on cigarettes. But following the plea it was pointed out by the state that the new cigarette law applies to minors exclusively, and that the penalty for an adult would be under the old law. Nichols was fined $25 and costs, but had thought he might escape with a fine of $1 and costs. Theodore Saunders, the minor, who testified he had bought cigarettes of Nichols and also that he smoked two of the cigarettes, was fined $1 and costs, the minimum fine being assessed because Saunders was the prosecuting witness against Nichols. It was the first conviction of a minor under the new cigarette law.

Mr. and Mrs. John Brown have moved from the Joyce property in Eighth street to 608 North Sexton street.

YEAR OLD BABE IS TAKEN TO MOTHER

East Connersville Woman Has Sheriff to go to Orange to Get Her Child From its Grandparents.

NOT PERMITTED TO LEAVE

Deputy Sheriff James Tate, Jr., drove Wednesday to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Neal, near Orange, returning with their year-old granddaughter, says the Connersville News. The babe's mother, Mrs. Grace Elliott, who is working at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alva Hamilton, in East Connersville, visited her parents some time ago and upon her return, she claims they would not permit her to bring the child away.

Wednesday she asked Sheriff Ferguson to send for her child and Mr. Tate went after it. When he arrived at the home of the grandparents and explained his errand they quietly consented for him to bring the baby to its mother. Mr. and Mrs. Neal are deeply attached to the little one and wished to keep it. Mr. Tate and the baby arrived here about noon. He stated that he and the child had a pleasant journey.

CROPS WILL ALL BE IN BY END OF WEEK

With Few Exceptions Corn Planting Will be Completed in Rush County by Saturday.

OTHER CROPS ARE DOING WELL

It is a fairly safe guess that the end of the current week will see the 1913 corn crop of Rush county in the ground. Possibly there will be a field here and there left over for planting next week, but the number will not be large. Fully two-thirds of the farmers were through by last Saturday. There are a few who have corn up and ready for the cultivator. If the weather continues favorable several fields will have been "scratched" by next Saturday night.

Since the rains of last week, the oats crop has come out of the kinks wonderfully. Wheat is looking the best in years for the middle of May and nearly all the farmers are counting on a big yield. The trouble is, nearly all have only a small acreage. The poor showing wheat made last year in Rush county had the effect of discouraging extensive sowing.

Pastures are fine and meadows have seldom been more promising. Clover, especially, is doing well. This is as true of the young clover which is just up as it is of that which stood over winter. Fruit of all kinds is doing nicely and the farmer really is beginning to perk up and believe he is not going up against a hoodoo this year after all.

TO FURNISH FREE VACCINE

State Board of Health Will Treat Typhoid Fever.

The state board of health has made a new rule by which it will furnish vaccine for typhoid fever free of charge to the members of any family in which a case of the disease arises. The practice of vaccination for the prevention of typhoid fever is far past the experimental stage. Its value, practical certainty and absolute safety is so well established that the surprise is the slowness with which the public adopts it. The treatment consists of one hypodermic injection of prepared vaccine each week for three consecutive weeks. A slight illness, or rather a mild indisposition following the first introduction of the preparation is the only inconvenience felt by the patient.
